Executive Skills for Board Members in Challenging Times

The New Role of Directors

SID SINGAPORE
INSTITUTE OF DIRECTORS

PROFESSIONAL

Programme Highlights

- 360-degree board-level view of key strategic issues
- Partnership with Singapore Institute of Directors
- Choice of formal accreditation: Executive Diploma in Directorship or Executive Certificate in Directorship

Programme Structure

The programme is organised in two tiers. Participants have the option to obtain an Executive Diploma in Directorship upon successful completion of all six assessable modules, or the Executive Certificate in Directorship, which consists of three assessable modules (Module 1, 2 and 3).

The modules can be taken non-sequentially, which allows scheduling flexibility. For participants who choose to attend the seminars and not complete the associated post module assignments, they only be given Certificate of Attendance for each module.

About the Programme

Directors play a vital leadership role. A director's activities can be diverse, ranging from building oversight of the firm, doing performance reviews, carrying out budget and salary approval, managing relations with a growing stakeholder base, and playing a role in the M&A process. Today, directors also need to consider a host of emerging challenges that impact the firm and its customers such as sustainability, globalisation, and digital disruption.

Launched in 2007 in partnership with Singapore Institute of Directors (SID), this unique six-module programme provides a 360-degree board-level view of the key strategic issues faced by company directors. The partnership brings together SMU's academic excellence and strength in designing and delivering executive programmes, as well as SID's strong network of senior business executives.

Taught by expert faculty and industry professionals, the programme helps participants to enhance their board level skills and update their knowledge and ability to lead in challenging times.

The programme is organised in two tiers. Participants have the option to obtain an Executive Diploma in Directorship upon completion of six assessable modules, or the Executive Certificate in Directorship, which consists of three assessable modules.

Benefits

- Understand the role of directors and how they can serve the company more effectively
- Review the decision-making mechanisms and processes of companies
- Gain knowledge on corporate governance in finance, financial health of the firm and shareholder value
- Acquire practical frameworks and strategies to manage risk, CSR, succession planning and compensation
- Enjoy content and schedule flexibility through the modular course design
- Interact with current and new board members, faculty and leading practitioners

Who Should Attend

Aspiring, newly-appointed and current board members, senior management of corporations, government and non-profit organisations and senior partners of professional firms who interact with the boards of corporations and would like to understand the intricacies of board roles and responsibilities.

“ The Directorship Programme has provided me great insights and governance practices to round out my professional development as a director and leader. The learnings are balanced and practical, and I have gained much from the robust discussions and diverse perspectives from the cohort of high-quality participants. ”
