Early stage impact startups struggle to bridge the gap between measuring impact and achieving commercial stability, with challenges in securing funding, while balancing impact outcomes.

Startups span across several industries

Agritech, marine supply chains, and biotech

Cleantech, renewable energy, climate

Financial Inclusion for underserved communities

..... & more.

Impact-driven innovations

Covering a range of UN SDGs, all have target social and/or environment outcomes:

- Number of beneficiaries reached
- Increase in income for marginalised communities
- Climate-related outcomes (e.g., soil fertility, CO2 emissions decrease)

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

Unique challenges

Participating startups have indicated key challenges they are facing:

Customer acquisition, commercialization and sales

Fundraising and scaling

Entering new markets

Impact measurement and monitoring

Need for relevant industry experience, impact expertise and knowledge, as well as guidance across cross-cutting challenges that are hindering scale for early-stage startups.

6-month advisory programme connecting impact-driven startups with leaders from SID's network of season leaders

Information session and registration of interest to be submitted by April 30. Shortlisting of advisors by SID and Co-Axis.

Announcement of selected advisors and introductions to startups, beginning with a cohort of 10 startups and 10 selected advisors in June.

1-1 advisor meetings, with bi-monthly check-ins with Co-Axis and SID

Tailored workshops focused on impact measuring and mentoring and attracting impact capital conducted by Temasek Trust ecosystem entities and resources.

THANK YOU
