Description

Covid-19 is creating unprecedented disruption in the global economy. Customer demand, supply chains, financial markets, the workforce and every aspect of business are affected. Businesses have faced crises before, but this one is uniquely complex and unpredictable. The role of board is now more important than ever.

The session will explore the impact of Covid-19 on supply chain practices and give insights into business response. The presentation will review some of the important areas that boards need to focus on, to build resilience and prepare for future disruptions. Boards can help shape contingency plans, and build well-thought and agile solutions for future supply chains without adversely impacting existing operations.

- What is the extent of the current crisis and how are businesses responding?
- How can businesses evolve and build the flexibility to deal with future disruptions?
- How can companies future-proof their supply chain?
- What are the critical questions that boards must ask?
